Have you ever really been alone?
Ever really fallen far from grace?
Do you know you at all?
Do you recognize this silent face?

I know you
Everyone knows how to bleed
You know me
And things we all need

Watching over you
And they're watching over me
Watching over you
They're watching over me
Building our trenches

In the order you let down
The mourning that overcame
The hollow of your spaces
Do you recognize this sullen face?

I know you
Everyone knows how to bleed
You know me
And things we all need

Watching over you
And they're watching over me
Watching over you
They're watching over me
Building our trenches
