In this city's streets, is where this city's heart beats.
Here you will find the truth, in this town you can find our youth. All these years both good and bad, all these years that we've had it makes every minute count.
Growing up and growing old the same scenery, but this is home and thats what means the most to me.
Growing up and growing old the same scenery, but this is home and thats all i'll ever need. Home is where the heart is. We always knew we would find this place, it was right there for the taking. A place to live our lives, and if I die in this town tonight I wouldnt put up a fight.
In this city's streets, is where this city's heart beats
