Night has fallen in my little town
It won't be long now, to see who's around
Hiding, waiting in the darkness for me
Waiting

I told her, she gotta stay away from me
Try to figure a way and let the two of us be
We can't be just lovers, we can be friends
Without her touch, the loneliness would be too much

All along you knew about the two of us
Breaking all the rules
All along you knew
That all I really needed was you

In the cover of darkness
In the heat of the night
The roll that we burn
Outta the line of sight

Fighting, to leave but I can't pull away
She phones me
I know, that you know what is going on
And I guess your silence and you get my soul

I turn around but you turn away
Without her touch the loneliness would be too much

All along you knew about the two of us
Breaking all the rules
All along you knew
About us

All along you knew about the two of us
Breaking all the rules
All along you knew
That all I really needed was you

Woa, woa

All along you knew about the two of us

Breaking all the rules
All along you knew
About us

All along you knew about the two of us
Breaking all the rules
All along you knew
That all I really needed was you
