

Honeydogs

"Funny Business"

Visit "Funny Business" on MotoLyrics.com

Should have known it all along
Once you worked me, you'd be gone
Just as well it had to end
When I found you with my best friend

You'll be so lonely when I'm gone
No one can hold you like I do
It's such a shame that you're a bitch

I suspect it's your funny business
When I heard his name in the night
I suspect it's your funny business
Now don't call me if it ain't right

There was one thing you should know
I'm the one who'll run the show
Goodbye, baby, joke's on you
Burn me good, now we're through

You'll be so lonely when I'm gone
No one can hold you like I do
It's such a shame that you're a bitch

I suspect it's your funny business
When I heard his name in the night
I suspect it's your funny business
Now don't call me if it ain't right

I suspect it's your funny business
When I heard his name in the night
I suspect it's your funny business
Now don't call me if it ain't right

I suspect it's your funny business
When I heard his name in the night
I suspect it's your funny business
Now don't call me if it ain't right

