If you would just be sensible
You'd find me indispensable
I pray determined destiny
That places you with me, whoa, whoa, whoa, whoa

Wanting you here in the sheets
Wandering around incomplete
Waiting so long

To feel it again
I thought that this heart would never mend
To feel it again
I know it is the living end

To feel it again
I thought that this heart would never mend
To feel it again
I know it is the living end

A nervous glance of scribbled note
Two handsome men in overcoat
Deception right in front of me
Or jealous fantasy whoa, whoa, whoa, whoa

Something that sets you apart
Tightens your grip on my heart
Don't ever let it go

To feel it again
I thought that this heart would never mend
To feel it again
I know it is the living end

To feel it again
I thought that this heart would never mend
To feel it again
I know it is the living end

All that I know people will come
And people will go, I don't really care
As long as you're there
As long as you're there

To feel it again
I thought that this heart would never mend
To feel it again
I know it is the living end

To feel it again
I thought that this heart would never mend
To feel it again
I know it is the living end

To feel it again
I thought that this heart would never mend
To feel it again
I know it is the living end
