Pace of my feet is draggin' and slow
Just so tired and I need to go home
Got empty pockets and empty mind
Lots of faces but no friends of mine
Told myself I should let it go
Leave this place it's grown so cold
Get in this old car and drive
Somewhere I don't know
And anyway from where I stand today
I'm walkin' out before I'm gone
All you have to say is meaningless anyway
I'm walkin' out before I'm gone
Tomorrow's gonna be different
I will never know what you could not say
I've been down before I been wrong that way
Can't never go back now, no sense in holdin' on
I don't need you up I don't need you down
I will always be just Like somethin' you found
That you could throw away
Forgotten in a day that's you baby
Baby that's you
These days these times are testing us
Keepin' us blind
These ropes and these lines
Are binding us to those times
