Don't make excuses when I didn't ask the reason why.
Just keep quiet. Don't want to talk about this right now.
Another conversation gone wrong. How did we get into this?
So second guess your way out of this one. I'd like to see you try.
Take a deep breath, honey, forget what you were about to say.
You're so much cuter with your lips pressed close together.
Another argument finds its way into your eyes.
How did we get into this? So second guess your way out of this one.
I'd like to see you try. Another tacit vote for silence, we're better off in separate rooms. So I break down these walls till I get through to you, one way or another. Do you ever think some things are better left unsaid?
Well no, I suppose you don't think that way. Another tacit vote for silence, we're better off in separate rooms. So I break down these walls till I get through to you, one way or another. One way out
