

Honor Bright

"I Gotta See A Thing About A Girl"

Visit "I Gotta See A Thing About A Girl" on MotoLyrics.com

There's only seconds left for us to decide how things will turn out this time. An awkward silence and a kiss goodbye. Don't let your feelings get the best of this. It only brings out the worst and I can't take this fight another round. So tell me with your eyes. Just lean back, let your shoulders guide you into my arms so I can hold you this time. (don't stop, get it get it). Another moment gone. Another things I should have said. Another farewell. So let the meanings of each word hang around. Such melancholy to bring me down. It only brings out the worst and I can't take this fight another round. So tell me with your eyes. Just lean back, let your shoulders guide you into my arms so I can hold you this time. I'm not going to give it away again. Give you just one last word, my fond farewell. It only brings out the worst and I can't take this fight... just lean back. Just lean back, let your shoulders guide you into my arms so I can hold you this time

Visit Honor Bright page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.