Honey your words cut so deep when we both know you don't mean it. How did we let things get so far out of hand now it's all awkward silence. This time we'll apologize for all our mistakes. This time the lines we'll retrace will bring us both back home. The looks you give me always makes me regret what I say the moment it leaves my lips. So honestly, honesty. What are you waiting for? We can't cover the same ground each time an argument comes up in conversation. It's too bad now, it's too late. Honey your words cut so deep when we both know you don't mean it. how did we let things get so far out of hand now it's all awkward silence. This time we'll apologize for all our mistakes. This time the lines we'll retrace will bring us both back home. Aren't you forgetting something? That's right I left my heart on my sleeve so you can take it. I'll let you break it. Why do we do this to ourselves? Why do you let me? Show me something other than this. I've seen enough. No more promises at least for now. Honey your words cut so deep when we both know you don't mean it. How did we let things get so far out of hand now it's all awkward silence. This time we'll apologize for all our mistakes. This time the lines we'll retrace will bring us both back home
