Every hour on the road we spent / takes us closer to our friends / smilin faces, stagedives and high-fives / sense of delight in our lives / capturable moments with nothing to lose / solid ideals and common views / a dozen things pounding in our hearts / seize every day as a new start / best of times / best of times / these are the best of times / we won't care about what others say /
for us its just the best of times / nothing that could break us down /
for us its just the best of times (friends on the road, spending half their time together.
those roadtrips seem to make time stand still. these moments
make you forget about your daily problems. far-off
from stress
and hectic. moods that refresh your energy savings, motivate and
strengthen you to get back to the reality of "normal" life although each "the day after"
seems like some surreal joke leaving you with the memories of best of times, longing for the next time you get in the van.)
