Why do we waste our time / talking about our problems instead of trying to find / trying to find a way to make a change we need to stop blaming each other with our mistakes / stop to blame with our mistakes / too many times we give up on things / problems appear and they bring / bring us down, let us doubt in what's true / just need a little faith and we can make it through /
I often resigned and drowned in self-doubt /
I'm fuckin sick of giving up and falling down /
I will fight for my dreams, fight for in what I believe / never give up hope, never give up hope again / are you with me? don't throw away what once meant so much /
don't give up on what you love / together we can make it through / you can count me in, what about you?

(how many times do we find ourselves discussing the same things over and over again without ever really starting to make a change? it's like being locked in some vicious circle and not finding the way out. sometimes talking doesn't bring us any further, we need to bring our thoughts to life and make those solutions work. so many people quit things because of the smallest problems, they quit their jobs, their relationships,

they quit friendships just because often it seems like
the easiest way.
of course it's easier to blame others with their mistakes
than to work on our own, but it's no solution as we will make the same mistakes over and over again. it's better to think about "what can I do to make this work again?" than to resign. if we really believe in love, in friendship, in progression, in making a change we need to start working on us. we can't change the world if we can't even change ourselves.)
