Only lonely by hootie & the blowfish

Hello again
Your words they make me smile
As I drift away
In my little room upstairs

Oh I spend my nights
Imagining your face, your touch
Then I realize
How I don't even know your name

If we could share our time
Would I disappoint your fantasies?
But I believe that I could be the one you're needing Cause im

Only lonely on the inside
Didn't mean to take away your dreams
Im only lonely on the inside
When you close your eyes to your deepest thoughts

And I could start to give apologies
For all the stupid things that I will say and i
Will do
If we should ever cross the same place at the same
Time
Would your world skip a beat cause it was me?

If we could share our life
Would I disappoint your memories?
And I believe that you could be the one Im needing
And im

Only lonely on the inside
Didn't mean to take away your dreams
Im only lonely on the inside
When you close your eyes to your deepest thoughts

If I could give back your hopes, your joys, your Treasures
Don't you think that I would change my world?

But there's so many things trying to pull us
Together
And even though were far apart I can still watch
You walk away

Only lonely on the inside
Only lonely on the inside
When you close your eyes, what do you see?

Only lonely on the inside
Didn't mean to take away your dreams
Im only lonely on the inside
In your deepest thoughts, what do you see?

Only lonely on the inside
I didn't mean, I didn't mean, to steal your dreams
Away
Im only lonely on the inside
When you close your eyes, in your deepest thoughts,
Do you see me?

Only lonely on the inside, Im only lonely when Youre gone
Only lonely on the inside, I see you babe, I see you
Only lonely on the inside, only lonely, only lonely
On the inside
Im only lonely on the inside
