I was told about a second chance now I know that's not a rule in a game called romance I was fooling around we lie and we cheat desire indeed I knew where this would lead us to when I was fooling around

No more sweet music just straight tell me straight if you got to do what you got to do we know there is no happy end but still I'm tempted every time we're fooling around Now we know there is no second chance in this lost game of romance we are fooling around

if you got to do what you got to do know there is no second chance
if you got to do what you got to do not in this game called romance
if you got to do what you got to do there won't be a happy end
if you got to do what you got to do Know that there wasn't and won't be a chance
