I like the things that you hate
And you hate the things that I like
But it hurts, honesty's your church

But sometimes it's better to lie
But sometimes it's better to lie

I am the vinegar and salt
And you are the oil that dissolves
My frustration, honesty's limitations

But sometimes it's better to lie
But sometimes it's better to lie

But sometimes it's better to lie
(I am the vinegar and salt)
(And you are the oil that dissolves my frustrations)
(Limitations)

But sometimes it's better to lie
(I am the vinegar and salt)
(And you are the oil that dissolves my frustrations)
(Limitations)

But sometimes, but sometimes
(I am the vinegar and salt)
(And you are the oil that dissolves my frustrations)
(Limitations)

But sometimes, but sometimes
(I am the vinegar and salt)
(And you are the oil that dissolves my frustrations)
(Limitations)

I don't dare to ask why
