Love is just forgiveness,
When you know you have been done wrong,
and taken every heart break and turned it into song, Love is just believing when you can not see the light.

In every situation, shine as the brightest star and when your backs against the wall don't you even think of fallin', and if you feel your strength is gone don't give up the sun will shine in.

If I could take the heavens and bring them down to earth,
and tell the homeless wilder how much his soul is worth. think of all the babies who's mama's never tried.

She couldn't bare to notice baby, in daddy's eyes.
If I could paint a picture it'd be of the whole world. Id erase all the colors that carried pain and hurt.
I'd give every men freedom to follow his own dream, and tell every child breathing, you can do anything.

And if your backs against the wall, don't even think of fallin, and if you think your strength is gone don't give up the sun will shine in.
