"Sky High Percentage"

Ten thousand men are waiting to take the place of you Much money to be made, they're exchanging point of view

Baby I don't need the action, show me the way to the door

Always a sky high percentage, why do I come back for more

Love is the reason they ain't got no place in with me.

Life is a game of chess boy, you're just another pawn Homebreakers claw your heart out

They hide with curtains drawn

Baby I don't need the action, show me the way to the
door

Always a sky high percentage, why do I come back for

I'm just protesting 'cause people keep messing me round

You keep your eyelids open, don't ever be forlorn

'Cause if the money's coming, your battle chips are down

Baby I don't need the action, show me the way to the door

Always a sky high percentage, why do I come back for

Love has been wasted it should have been tasted by you

Love has been wasted time and time again

Over and over

Baby I don't need the action, show me the way to the
door

Always a sky high percentage, why do I come back for

I got the notion that love is an ocean of weeds

Ten thousand men are waiting to take the place of you Much money to be made, they're exchanging point of

I've got a piece of the action, don't need a key to the door

I'm on a sky high persuader why did you come back for
Love is the reason you ain't got no place in with me

Love has been wasted
