each new day draws near. the final hour. lamentations for a breaking dawn, on this endeavor for the truth. waiting in the shadows of a recent fall. looking up at the darkened sky that only gets worse. yearning for a cathartic experience to break the shackles of my own. time, the only witness to the abolition of man. for death is the destiny of all. bleakness, the end, but a light on the horizon...my will surpasses my failures. my goals, my triumph. my grave awaits. every step taken in defiance of this world...leads and another will follow.
