Winter's coming, days are short
At the end of autumn's reign
Hunger becomes ravenous
Hibernation never waits

Soon the silent slumber
For now October's feast
Fearless and graceful
Crashing through dead leaves

Don't feed the bears
Or the bears will feed on you

All the forest fauna
Frozen, feeling fear
Flinching at the moment
Face to face with face of bear

All the forest creatures
Vanish from sight
Bettors come with hungers
That cannot be denied

Soon the silent dream is coming
Hunger's drumming, nights grow long
Neither plant nor beast
Have walls or doors to protect them
From the greatest of the omnivores

Towering over my head
Terrible beauty, fuck, I'm dead

The hunger
The hunger

Fall is falling, stars are conquering
Dead branches soaked with rain
Bear gut glut on critters
Heavy eyes feeling weight

Twilight sighs in animal eyes
A new cycle will begin

This winter when trees are white
The fauna's free from him

Don't feed the bears
Or the bears will feed on you

I'll die with the honor that I choose
I'll fight the face of bear and lose

Face to face with face of bear
Face to face with face of bear
Face to face with face of bear
Face to face with face of bear

Face to face with face of bear
Face to face with face of bear
Face to face with face of bear

Face the bear, I'll face the bear
Face the bear, I'll face the bear
