Then came winter's bitterness
Numbness swept down from the east
Lost cold and hungry, gently collapse
Into endless fields of soft luminous white

She sulks from silver tower
She could save her life
He says he hates us and has no words to try
Don't know why

Trapped under winter's paw, I'm the animal
Frost invades and steals my breathing
Distant dimples glut with glitter and comfortable
Outside the wolves are waiting

Don't trust man, don't trust girl
Don't trust animal, trust in steel
Don't stop moving, don't stop breathing

She sulks from silver tower
She could save her life
He says, he hates us and has no words to try
Don't know why
I don't know why, I don't know why

When nature calls eat the kill
When nature calls trust in steel
Don't stop moving, don't stop breathing
When nature
