The silver moon is showing me the way to dive to Find them all again-
I'm bringing out the hidden gold,
In the seven seas of my unused ideas.

To write them down takes half a day
And after all I throw them all away
Good-bye my words, my unused toys
The one hand writes the same destroys

Good-bye my words, it's late at night. You've got To swim in silver light. A part of me is your Company in the seven seas of my unused ideas.

Torn and burnes
They're falling down
To soak like fish food
In the sea

From above
I'm watching them
Sink in the seas
Of my unused ideas

Good-bye words
It's late at night
You've got to swim
In silver light
A part of me
Keeps company
In the seven seas
Of my unused ideas

The silver moon is showing me
The way to dive
The way to dive
The way I'll find them all again
