Iâ€™ve said it before and Iâ€™ll say it again I would never trust a pregnant virgin and I wouldnâ€™t take one single text to be the truth because to believe Iâ€™d need to see a mountain of proof christ, and your imaginary friends will love me to the bitter end Iâ€™m sure when I die hell awaits me I donâ€™t spit or shit on anybodyâ€™s faith until some judgmental fuck gets up in my face and tells me Iâ€™m destined to burn because how I think is impure and he damns me to darkness because I donâ€™t see the light he swears that Iâ€™ll suffer until the end of time and I will defend any human beingâ€™s right to believe in anything even that which makes no sense to me but I will fight for control of what I hear and see and Iâ€™ll deny any church pushing its rules on me my spirituality canâ€™t be organized but since youâ€™ve set the boundaries and all the guidelines hell awaits me yes, Iâ€™m sure when I die hell awaits me but in that lake of fire Iâ€™ll be fast asleep donâ€™t pray for me, pray youâ€™re right pray somethingâ€™s been listening at night two thousand years of guilt and war wonâ€™t convince me that death will bring reward donâ€™t waste your breath on my damned soul reach for that hand that you canâ€™t hold donâ€™t waste your breath on me.
