reduced me from a person to a mere position still, I'd like to think this counter is our one division train took forever at union station I'm your petty victory for the day policy restraining what I'd like to say
train took forever at union station don't wanna work for your company don't wanna die in your factory don't wanna buy what you're selling me but I've got no choice subway cars just above the seats show the signs of passengers trying to sleep
train took forever at union station it's all peeling paint and hair grease stains a million tired commuters only remains
train took forever at union station I never thought that I would fail at just getting by I never thought that I would feel trapped in my life I never thought that I would see a dildo wearing a tie I never thought that I would see one reach a rank so high face forward with lips on strings pull them up 'til you're a lovely thing
train took forever at union station I'm punching in for longer than I sleep because my next dime was spent last week
train took forever at union station fuck you, I quit
