"Finger Redux"

Sifting through 3 years
8 months and a handful of dust like shadows
Falling through a matrix of "wish I had's"
And it's much harder to see how much space was taken When your chest pounds with the footsteps of those you've forsaken
It's a shame isn't it
The way these hours spin out of control
And how the tighter your grip on the why
And the how insures a faster demise to a here and a now
There's no strength in numbers is the one thing I've found
And you can't trust your balance
Until you've walked with your feet on the ground
