The moon was full your whiskey sour
Oh, girl, there's no need to be so dour
'Cause when you walk with me
In the beginning of the day
You see, I don't need anything that way

I'm wishing things could be the same
When things got broken you came
My moods were always changin'
They were blue, then brown, then grey
You see, I don't need anything that way
You see, I don't need anything that way

I'm fighting tooth and nail
Against these demons in my head
And no matter where I'm sleepin'
My history's right there in my bed

When things blew open you flew in
And I was caught red handed once again
Was I really robbin' you of the best days of your life?
I'm sorry, I never meant anything that way

The mailman came this way today
He said, "No sir, I've got nothin' for you today"
Went outside in the mornin' time
But I got lost along the way
You see, I don't need anything that way

No, no, I don't need anything that way
Oh, no I don't need anything that way

I don't need anything that way, that way
I don't need anything that way that way
