

Buffalo Tom "Guilty Girls"

Visit "Guilty Girls" on MotoLyrics.com

You will be the last man standing Forget about the guilty girls
And your sins are so demanding
Forget about the guilty girls
Forget about the guilty girls

While the years are disappearing and your back's
against the wall
And the maudlin tears are streaming you'll make another call

And now, who made grief a woman Who strolls right in, no compromise
I have just seen your ex-girlfriend She's working there from 9-5
She stares right through with almond eyes

While the years are disappearing and your back's
against the wall
And the maudlin tears are streaming you'll take another fall

While the years are disappearing and your back's
against the wall
And the maudlin tears are streaming you'll make
another call

We'll I heard that he got married
Forget about the guilty girls
But it got too hard to carry
Forget about the guilty girls
Remembering those guilty girls

Visit Buffalo Tom page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.