Every breath that I take is forgotten
And I hold on as tight as I can
And there's something about this tension
When this argument stands
Every time that I think that it's over
We're just closer than ever before
I don't even know why we're fighting
Yes, it's true I adore you

And I can honestly say for the first time
When I'm not alone and you're all mine
"So just drop it and let's go back home"

Every breath that I take is forgotten
And I hold on as tight as I can
And there's something about this tension
When this argument stands

And I can honestly say for the first time
When I'm not alone and you're all mine
"So just drop it and let's go back home"

And I can honestly say for the first time
That I'm not alone and you're all mine
"So just drop it and let's make out"

Last night I tried to tell you how I really felt
But did you listen to a word I said?
I can't sleep, I can't eat, I can't think about anything

I can honestly say for the first time
That I'm not alone and you're all mine
"So just drop it and let's go back home"
And I can honestly say for the first time
That I'm not alone and you're all mine
"So just drop it and let's make out"

And I can honestly say for the first time
That I'm not alone and you're all mine
"So just drop it and let's go back home"
