Is this what it's like to feel somehow I forgot to mention I hope this isn't real at least you know you got my attention

And I've been acting like a fool and I've been lost seems that I've lost my self control You don't deserve an explanation
I don't approve a thing you do

I've been waiting for you don't know if I can make it through to save you

You're still searching for something you already have lighting fuses at both ends lets see what happens You're still searching for something you already have

I'm tired of faking for you

Dig your nails in scratching my skin I think you carved your name in constant reminders burning fires I think I'll throw myself in I'm tired of faking for you
