we'll show our gratitude in song to the inspirations we have known that helped put us on our feet when we felt incomplete and could not carry on when we chose to walk alone and strengthen ourselves and our homes just searching for our souls to find that we were never alone music regulates the breath while rhythm regulates the head steady with a constant beat on a roll simply reminding us of what we know how love shapes and secures the heart while truth can't help but to do the rest i love the independent songs because i can relate and i respect what you live to create and i admire every determined stray from a sterile life survival with give and take exchanging for better ways survival through give and take exchanging for more simple ways that move us through the breakdowns
