You wake up,
(You wake up)
Everything is different,
(Everything is different)
Her memory still hangs around,
(Still hangs around)
And you know you can't forget,

The traces of her silhouette,
(Traces of her silhouette)
The restlessness in an empty bed,
And you just can't handle it.

So you walk outside,
And you don't know why,
And you don't know how you can be so blind,
As the moments pass,
Will she take you back?

Is she thinking?

You're too young too fall in love,
You're too young to understand it all,
Don't you worry now,
Because the hardest part is over,
Only time will take you forward.

You take a breath,
Like you could care less,
But you can't get her out of your head,
Because you love her to death,
And you wonder.

If she'll be happy to see, You'll be ready to leave,
Or that you're secretly scared to find out she needs you
tonight,
Does she need you tonight?

But you can't stop wandering if she's thinking.

You're too young too fall in love,
You're too young to understand it all,

Don't you worry now,
Because the hardest part is over,
Only time will take you forward.

Don't be so hard on your self,
Your heart beat loves too well,
All the pain and the hurt that you felt,
It won't be for anyone else.

Don't watch this pass you by,
Don't hold back any longer,
Don't be afraid to fight,
Don't be afraid,
To fall in love tonight.

Because you're too young to fall in love,
You're too young to understand it all.

Don't you worry now,
Because the hardest part is over,
And only time will take you forward.

You're too young too fall in love,
You're too young to understand it all,
Don't you worry now,
Because the hardest part is over,
Only time will take you forward.
