We can fly from here - Part II

(Geoff Downes / Trevor Horn)

And if the ground step must be seem to be believe
There's no one sleeping - no one awake
And if the engines must be started in the night
There will be silence, no last in take
Of air that cools in a cloud as we breathe
Too late for even the night planes to leave
Any broken run, they always come and they fly from here

I want to be the one who always gives you shelter
Finds a way to keep you warm
And if some fool should say there is no other answer
It's a caution to face the dawn
Alone - so cool like the air that we breathe
Too late for even the night planes to leave
Any broken run, they always come and they fly from
