Stopped to rest
I'd been driving all night
smoked a cigarette

turned out the dash board lights and then I saw her.
Her eyes sent shivers running down my spine

the wind was singing through the telephone lines
then I saw her.

She looked so much like you

she smiled the way you do
I was so alone.
She laughed a little wild like a crazy crazy child
a long long way from home.
And with a voice so clear she whispered in my ear:

One more dance in blue

One more night with you till the morning light.
One more dance in blue

I'll come back to you
it'll be alright.
And I'll be back for you after one more dance in blue.

Took her in my arms and I held her tight

magic in the way that we danced all night
can you feel it ?
She said: Take my hand
we can follow the light

burning like a fire in the dead of the night
can you feel it ?

She looked so much like you

she smiled the way you do
I was so alone.
She laughed a little wild like a crazy crazy child

a long long way from home.
And with a voice so clear she whispered in my ear:

One more dance in blue

One more night with you till the morning light.
One more dance in blue

I'll come back to you
it'll be alright.
And I'll be back for you after one more dance in blue.

One more dance in blue

One more night with you till the morning light.
One more dance in blue

I'll come back to you
it'll be alright.
And I'll be back for you after one more dance in blue.

Stopped to rest
I'd been driving all night
smoked a cigarette

turned out the dash board lights and then I saw her.
Her eyes sent shivers running down my spine

the wind was singing through the telephone lines
then I saw her.
