Put that finger back to my lips,
Will I taste of sugar or of cold wet stone Hope the shell will break on a paper dinner plate Ooh not a headstone

How long does it take to change the man
How much sun to melt a frozen life
How long will it take for the mask to slip
And find a way to mend this broken heart

Iâ€™ve said too much, Iâ€™ve opened up Iâ€™ve spilled my guts,
I canâ€™t go back, no I wonâ€™t go back, no I shouldnâ€™t
ever go back to you.

Push your finger into my ribs
Am I made of honey am I made of bone Scrape your nails over my skin
To find how many layers Iâ€™m wrapped in

How long does it take to change the man
How much sun to melt a frozen life
How long will it take for the mask to slip
And find a way to mend this broken heart

Iâ€™ve said too much, Iâ€™ve opened up
Iâ€™ve spilled my guts,
I canâ€™t go back, no I wonâ€™t go back, no I shouldnâ€™t
ever go back to you.

shouldnâ€™t ever go back to you
shouldnâ€™t ever go back
shouldnâ€™t ever go back to you

Hereâ€™s the person, you used to know
A strange new alchemy, produces the gold
A local warming of a frozen ghost
A homeless entity returned to the host.

How long does it take to change the man
How much sun to melt a frozen life
How long will it take for the mask to slip

And find a way to mend this broken heart

Iâve said too much, Iâve opened up
Iâve spilled my guts,
No I canât go back, no I wonât go back, no I shouldnât ever go back to you

Iâve said too much, Iâve opened up
Iâve spilled my guts,
I canât go back, no I wonât go back, no I shouldnât
ever go back to you

shouldnât ever go back to you
shouldnât ever go back
shouldnât ever go back
