We got the same beat runnin' round through this crazy town

Oh, I'm sick and I can't hear it anymore
And when we touched as the blood and the rain
We'd be shakin' the ground
She's sick and there's a way to bring her 'round

Show me what you're waitin' for
This moment may not rise again
And your heart will never know

Show me what you're waitin' for
The voices may not rise again
And the world will never know

The party drags us over the edge to a poison shore
I can't carry this desire anymore
Across the blue sky callin' me with the sweetest demand
She talks to me of mercy make me understand

Show me what you're waitin' for
This moment may not rise again
And your heart will never know

Show me what you're waitin' for
The voices may not rise again
And the world will never know

And through these years
As the tears chase the rain
The picture has cleared
Can we face the change

Show me what you're waitin' for
The voices may not rise again
And the world will never know

Show me what you're waitin' for
This moment may not rise again
And your heart will never know

Show me
