All the little pieces of time
Are adding up to nothing again
You'd think I'd finally get this right
I think I've fought it one time to many
Just one time to many

I'm the king of nothing today
Looking up to heaven I call your name

Come on and change me
Cause you know what I need
Could you break away the ice frozen around my heart
Could you reach through
And help me to know you
Cause I'm stranded in this place
Falling on my face over and over again

I'm holding onto all my mistakes
Thinking I'm not worthy of grace
Well I need to know you love me tonight
Cause I've fallen one time too many
Just one time too many

O is it always gonna be this way,
Looking up to heaven I call Your name

Come on and change me
Cause you know what I need
Could you break away the ice frozen around my heart
Could you reach through
And help me to know you
Cause I'm stranded in this place
Falling on my face over and over again

Am I really worth the price you paid for me
I can't believe it
Am I really worth the price you paid for me
I can't believe it
I hear you say

That you'll change me
Cause yo know what I need

And You'll break away the ice frozen around my heart
And You'll reach through
And help me to know you
Cause standing in this place
Calling on your name over and over
Come on and change me
Cause you know what I need
Could you break away the ice frozen around my heart
Could you reach through
And help me to know you
Cause I'm stranded in this place
Falling on my face over and over again
