"Show Me Love"

Love is patient, love is kind
You love me and you don't mind
That I'm not so perfect
You know I'm unrefined

And my actions fail to show
But inspite of me you seem to know
That I only want to love you
I don't mean to be so cold

My words have cut you to the bone
But my heart still longs for you alone

Show me love, show me life, give me time
Because I want to shine inspite of who I am
Show me love, give me time
Because I want to shine inspite of who I am

I know by you I am justified
But still I can't seem to find the line
Where my works will match my faith
And I lay myself aside

And my actions fail to show
But inspite of me you seem to know
That I only want to love you
I can't make it on my own

When my mind denies the love I know
My life sends nails through your bone

Show me love, show me life, give me time
Because I want to shine inspite of who I am
Show me love, give me time
Because I want to shine inspite of who I am

I can't define your love but I need it I need, it yeah
I can't give enough of me but you want it, so I'll give it
I don't deserve your love but I have it, and I have it now

Show me love, show me life, give me time
Because I want to shine inspite of who I am

Show me love, give me time
Because I want to shine

Show me love, show me life, give me time
Because I want to shine
Show me love, show me life, wait give me time
Because I want to shine inspite of who I am
