I'd like to take this time to apologise for stepping on your toes
I jumped right off and then realised that lo and behold, you'd disappeared

My eyes watched over skies of misery so often I've forgot just why my heart's not flown
That far away from all the things it's not and disappeared

"Something inside of this fails you"
So what of this pain?
"Take comfort in dreams we have made true"
When it rains it pours down on me for no longer

If lives grow dim can we see without light?
Eyes without light lose their way easily
If lies that you've lived can be lies when they're right
Then no more broken promises this is real

All this time has been wasted if signs that you've given me end here tonight
So will these words be our saviour or straw that broke the camels back in our sights

"Something inside of this fails you"
So what of this pain?
"Take comfort in dreams we have made true"
When it rains it pours down on me for no longer

If lives grow dim can we see without light?
Eyes without light lose their way easily
If lies that you've lived can be lies when they're right
No more broken promises this is real
