did you ever have one of these days when you love the town you live in and that which doubles for the devil is only powder in the big wind did you ever have one of these lives like you lived around here forever and the blue marble girl even has trouble with her own spin

{chorus}
blue marble girl shoves the day into the night and a red cap boy making his way till he blows it right Â...now blow it right Â...blow it right a little more right

did you ever have one of these nights strung out like a string of cracked Christmas lights and the light that needs your juice is the same fuse you have got to refuse

{chorus}
if it's all the same is she better off to blame anyone except what slipped on through her own hands
