She was nervous, she was late
She left it up to fate
Standing at a phone

And she knows what she wants
And she came here to take it
How perfect it could be, you and me

And she met him at the door
I don't want anymore
Remember what you said

You and a promise
You and a promise
You

He turned and didn't wait
He walked right through the gate
So glad to be alone

And he knows who to call
I'll always be there for you
Call me anytime

I don't mean to offend
A voice on the other end
Is a stranger to me

You and a promise
You and a promise
You

And they say to themselves
And they say to themselves
How can I ever let this happen

You and a promise
You and a promise
Take me back or let this happen
