Someday you'll hear my cry
The lonesome nightingale
Parched to palm this broken branch
My love has now set sail

Come sing with me a melody
In the dark of the night

Every time I close my eyes
The sun appears again
High above this broken branch
Will these wings ever mend?

Come sing with me a melody
In the dark of the night
Come far away to nightingale's
Make everything all right

I can hear the morning count
She lifts her weary head
High above this broken dream
To me her arms extend

Come sing with me a melody
In the dark of the night
Come far away to nightingale's
Make everything all right
