"Cry Softly"

Fingers walk the edge of time
We don't know just how to taste it.
Like a blue and wailing song our time runs in
And then runs out wasted.
Rubbing sleep out of your eyes waking up to find me
calling.
Let's not wait or take too long the castle you once built so strong is falling Cry softly time is mourning longing for you at the dawning.
Baby
Dreams will last forever. Tell me your heart is burning
Knowing that the tide is turning
Baby
Dreams will last forever
Forever.
See the night pass in my eyes
Feel the pain inside me crying.
Like a blue and wailing song out time runs in and then
runs out dying.
Cry softly time is mourning . . .
Cry softly time is mourning . . .
Cry softly time is mourning . . .
