I love my wife, I love my honey
I gave them both everything I had
Like lots of love and lots of money
Can a little devotion be too much to ask?

I should have seen it coming
Man, you know it's always something
I'd give a month of Sundays to see her again
Believe me when I tell you

I know it's hard, it's never easy
It's like an illness in the family
So I'm takin' the news the best that I can
My other woman's got another man
My other woman's got another man, oh yeah

I was the man, rich and goodlookin'
Ask anybody in the neighborhood
Then she cut out, now nothin's cookin'
All of a sudden I don't look so good

I went to have my head examined
Doctor, what you got for depression?
He pulled me aside and said
"Son, you better get you another other woman"

I know it's hard, no it ain't easy
You got a problem in your family"
So I'm carrying on the best that I can
My other woman's got another man
My other woman's got another man, yeah

Now, every day I feel like cryin'
It's like a part of us has gone away
But I'll be strong, pick up the pieces
I'll find the strength to face another day

Yes, I'm carrying on the best that I can
My other woman's got another man
My other woman's got another man
My other woman's got another man

My other woman's got another man

He's got another woman, she's got another man
He's got another woman, she's got another man
He's got another woman, she's got another man
He's got another woman, oh she's got another man

Yeah
C'mon now, c'mon now
