We've been friends forever looking for the same thing
True love can be so hard to find
Baby, we've been looking in all the wrong places
'Cause we keep coming back here every time

Talking to each other
Comparing our heartaches
Confessing the ways we long to be satisfied

Maybe there's something going on here
Maybe there's something here for you and me

We should be making love
Instead of wasting time with someone else
We should be making love
Instead of going home all by ourselves

Oh, now I've told you I want to be your lover
Why don't we discover where we go from here
I don't want no other
Do you feel it too every time we get together?

Telling our stories
Comparing our heartaches
Confessing the ways we long to be satisfied

We should be making love
Instead of wasting time with someone else
You know we should be making love
Instead of going home all by ourselves

We should be making love

Telling our stories
Comparing our heartaches
Confessing the ways we long to be satisfied

I know there's something going on here
You know it's so obvious to see

We should be making love
Instead of wasting time with someone else

Don't you know that we should be making love
Instead of going home all by ourselves

Oh, we should be making love
Instead of wasting time with someone else
Oh, we should be making love
Instead of going home all by ourselves

We should be making love
We should be making love
