It's Eerie and it's awesome
How connected two pods scattered on the surface can become Lazy into one

He knows lightnin' kills the other
She can't stand to watch his petals fall
It's better when cascades become like us all

Afternoon a golden disengagement leaves a woman
With a household left to fill
Sit, and be still, send the voltage cross his ticker Watch the stars they start to flicker, and one by one levels fall

Another drink my love, and make it tall enough
So I can stand on it and see, all you've done for me
A world of curves and lines electric Remember how you strung the colored lights, from Christmas tree to me
