People think I'm addicted to pissing people off

But I'm just trying to make some sense and challenge what I'm taught

You're screaming in my face, but you never listen

Your ideas are all based on bullshit theories

I know It's scary to start anew, and change your way of life

Break their rules, ignore conventions, change some fucking minds

This pen is still flowing but your ideas have stopped

Maybe one day you'll listen, I will still be writing
