You cover up your face with a pound of make-up

As if you're trying to cover up rot rot rot rot

You're convinced that this is the key to beauty

Because of all those ads

In magazines on the newsstands

They sold to you so much more than

Just a product, but a false fear

What if you go out into public

What if you aren't as pretty as a

Model on the runway who would ever love

A girl with natural hair who actually has pores
