

Hundred Reasons "Answers"

Visit "Answers" on MotoLyrics.com

And if your wings lay unbroken would they still unfold?
And if we collaborate in synch then we would not fall
So you tempt me into being what's sought after?
They lay in casts
They lay in casts

Where is the need to know?
I stop to think where you lost it
The chance was found and then thrown
Thrown away like before

So then you distance yourself from my mistake
And a choice to adhere to you forsake
And I cradle you in my own arms and I wish
You could make your own way
You could make your own way

Where is the need to know?
I stop to think where you lost it
The chance was found and then thrown
Thrown away like before

And I will ask of no one
And I will ask of no one
And I will ask of no one
And I will ask of no one
And I will ask of no one
And I will ask of no one

Where is the need to know?
I stop to think where you lost it
The chance was found and then thrown
Thrown away like before

And I will ask of no one
And I will ask of no one
And I will ask of no one
And I will ask of no one

Visit Hundred Reasons page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

