There is no safe place for me to hide
Theres no safe place for me, too tired
There is no safe place for me to hide
Theres no safe place for me...

It always hurts when it's someone you love
Wont you rise above
Wont you rise above
There's a price in blood

There is no safe place for me to hide
There's no place left for me, i'm tired
There is no safe place for me to hide
Theres no place left for me
I'm tired

So tell me a story about your life
I don't mind, I don't mind
Wont you tell me?- that will be just fine.
I don't mind, ilde mind.
Singin' songs about the 'ald lang zine'
I don't mind, I don't mind...
Just take me back to another time
I don't mind, ilde mind

(Forever)

Wont you lend me your sins against you
For every thing I understand
One thousand more won't comprehend (Forever)
It always hurts when its someone you love
Wont you rise, rise above
(Forever)
It always hurts when it's someone you love
Wont you rise above
Wont you rise above
There's a price in blood

I see the car that your mom keeps sending, when I breathe it feels just like my life is ending. I think of the one that I most respected and all the words that I'm now regretting.

Id hold them now, but i'm bruised and beaten and I'm alone and I've barely eaten.
And it seems just like the way it goes that down the road we may have known about the love in both of us we push and shove, betray the trust, don't let this make a fool of us i'm tired hungry broke and just wish I could come back home

Forever, forever
Calling you out I called your bluff
But "that just wasn't good enough"
You split my face and spilled my blood
Then tears ran down the face I loved
It always hurts when its someone you love
Wont you rise above?

It always hurts when its someone you love
