I hear some news, I read the words
It's different every day
I get my thoughts from a letter that's lost
That someone threw away

It says, "Don't give up, 'cause you can't give away"
The thought's appreciated
Now at the best, you second guessed
And never should you have waited

Never changes the things I feel inside
Sit by a lake and cry
Like a shingle on a roof in a windstorm
Should I let loose and fly?

An overpass and some corn in a field
Fat bird's on the line
A dented guard rail, immaculate bumper
Protecting your design

A broken down shack with a pond in the back
Laundry out to dry
And some of them barren and some of them whole
All of them have no time

Never changes the things I feel inside
Sit by a lake and cry
Like a shingle on a roof in a windstorm
Should I let loose and fly?

Come along with me, come along with me
Come along, come along with me
We'll go to places that we have never seen
And if we're together, we'll have a happy time
'Cause I got no reservations, no

'Cause I got no reservations
'Cause I got no reservations
'Cause I got no reservations
'Cause I got no reservations
