There's a little girl that I am madly in love with She's only seventeen and she's testing my patience
She knows what I want and I know what she needs
But we both know that we should not proceed
Father please forgive me for I've sinned again
And again and again and again and again

She's a victim of the times daddy's tryin' to find A way to keep his baby in line He's got it all figured out, hell keep her locked in the house
And wont let her see or hear no evil
Don't you know the more you push the more she runs?
Run away run away run away run away

These are the fairy tales that don't have happy endings
These are the fairy tales that never ever ever end
These are the fairy tales that don't have happy
endings
These are the fairy tales that never ever ever end

I promised her the world and she ate every word
She left her life in a sudden urge She came along for the ride, now she's lost she starts to cry
The big bad wolf is at her door
Mirror mirror on the wall, who's the fairest mother f*cker of all?
It ain't me it ain't me it ain't me it ain't me

There's no going back now, it's way too late
Her innocence is lost now nothing remains

These are the fairy tales that don't have happy endings
These are the fairy tales that never ever ever end
These are the fairy tales that don't have happy
endings
These are the fairy tales that never ever ever end

These are the fairy tales that don't have happy endings
These are the fairy tales that never ever ever end
These are the fairy tales that don't have happy

endings

These are the fairy tales that never ever ever end
