Out of shape totally blind eternal years spent suffering Memories of the pain comes haunting as my lifetime expires

Desolation always present eyes open wide at dawn Afraid to awake no more this pain will be my demise

On the edge of life i'm torn within, tomorrow - will i be alive?

The past and present is non existent in a void of my life Kept in the dark forever sensing no apparent reason Imprisoned yet unknowingly free bonds like a ton of bricks

Asking towards within from the outside - what really happened to me?

To be drained of life in a hollow shell, inanimate further inside

Traumatic suffering - Contemplating death bring life to despair

Perpetuate darkness - depraved of senses numb to the pain

Traumatic suffering - state of oppression guiding my agony

Perpetuate darkness - life beyond comes to me in the end

Immense panic lurks behind me I feel but I don't understand

After years between these four walls by brain slowly disintegrate

Finally perceiving the facade been kept restrained for the world

Coercive measures was taken in order to avoid chaos in society

Tied to torment inner scars remain, recalling the time of the past

Every minute every day Voices screaming inside

Telling me to awake Experiment on the brain Diabolical pain
Suffocate in silence

The final curtain is dropped before me
No more anguish dwelling cranial conflict Confront myself and this untimely close
The final step close at hand, at last my hour to die...
